

The King's English

Flasks is harder to say than Roman à Cléf. Binge is hard,
Relevé soft. One is easier to write than Another.

Bread is easier to say than Nomina, Nighttime easier than Interregnum.
Constantinople is harder to say than Lincoln.

Lost is harder to write than Dynamics of the Plain, Hosewater harder than Rain.
Abracadabra is easier than Defenestration.

Redoubling is much easier to say than Parting. Partway is easier to write than Parting.
Arthuriana in all ways easier than Parting.

Injured is harder to write than Incardine. Rose of Sharon is easier to say than Turtlehead.
Past is softer than Passed.